▶ Premier Dalton McGuinty embraces Bollywood film stars Preity Zinta and Anil Kapoor, right, yesterday.

Hooray for Bollywood

Premier Dalton McGuinty led local politicians, sponsors and organizers to a jam-packed news conference yesterday to discuss preparations for the International Indian Film Academy Awards ceremony to be held in Toronto June 23-25, the first time the awards will be held in North America. More coverage, page 6.

No wonder so many people hate their boss

- Problem managers noted by majority of HR people
- One-third of companies tolerate them if they deliver

Bosses from hell are a "big" or "huge" problem in Canada, say nearly three-quarters of human resources executives.

And cleaning up after their mistakes can take up way too much time, according to the survey of Human Resources Professionals Association members.

More than half of the 783 HR people who answered the survey said they have to talk to problem managers about their behaviour at least once a month.

"Clearly, problem managers are a significant problem," said HRPA director Claude Balthazard, who admits he was surprised at how widespread bad managers were.

More than 53 per cent of HR professionals said they have to have "difficult conversations" with problem managers at least once a month.

"There's a kind of motif of the manager that's tough, berates employees and flies off the handle," Balthazard said.

Reforming problem managers sometimes works by simply pointing out bad behaviour. Sometimes, however, it requires a radical culture change in the company, he said.

"With social media," said Balthazard, "people talk more about what organizations are really like. Misbehaviour often surfaces more than it used to. It's not as easily containable as it used to be."

Premier won't fight for his view

Premier Dalton McGuinty is giving up on the battle to stop new high-rise condominiums from blocking the view of the Ontario legislature.

Speaker Steve Peters says two condo towers that will stretch 44 and 48 storeys into the sky near the legislature will undermine the grandeur and importance of the provincial parliament building.

The province tried blocking the condo towers at the Ontario Municipal Board and in court, but lost on both occasions.

McGuinty said he will abide by those decisions and won't introduce legislation to protect the views of the 118-year-old building.

He said the people of Toronto, through their elected council, have the right to determine the maximum height of buildings in the city.

The Speaker last week issued a last-ditch appeal to the Liberal government to protect the views of the legislature, but McGuinty said all avenues of appeal have now been exhausted.

Riders get their say on bus route cuts

TTC holding public meetings next week in different areas of city

The Toronto Transit Commission will hold four public meetings next week to get feedback on how cutting 48 low-ridership bus routes will affect riders.

Cutting evening and weekend service on the routes was identified as a way for the TTC to save $7 million on its 2011 operating budget. But a public outcry about the impact on some riders, who would have to walk further to the next available bus, caused the TTC to delay a final decision on the service reductions until Feb. 2.

The consultations are designed to give the public details of the proposed service cuts and let people know their alternatives.

Those unable to attend the meetings can express their opinions on the TTC's website.

Overwhelmed hospitals grapple with flu wave

A little more than 20% of Ontarians have received vaccine: Minister Uptake is usually around 35%

Ontario's heath minister says hospitals are working together in an unprecedented way to cope with the crush of patients suffering from flu-like symptoms.

Health Minister Deb Matthews said some hospitals that can't take any more patients are transferring people to other hospitals.

She said hospitals are doing everything they can to prevent the postponement of surgeries as the flu season tightens its grip on Ontario.

Health officials say there have been 2,518 confirmed cases of influenza in Ontario so far, up from 1,075 cases reported two weeks ago.

4M

The province has five million doses of the vaccine and about four million have been distributed, Health Minister Deb Matthews said.

Matthews said the province is monitoring the situation carefully, following where the outbreaks are and the affect on patient care.

Hospital officials in London are already warning that wait times in emergency rooms are too long and there aren't enough beds for patients.

Officials at the University and Victoria hospitals are considering cancelling surgeries and they are asking patients with minor injuries to go to their family doctor or a walk-in clinic for treatment.

Matthews said Ontario can expect a second wave of the flu.

She is urging everyone to get the vaccine as soon as possible.

McGuinty won't ban smoking in apartments

The Ontario government used Weedless Wednesday to encourage more people to butt out, but Premier Dalton McGuinty said he won't ban smoking in apartment buildings.

"I think when you get into people's homes, you're crossing a line," said McGuinty.

"It's pretty intrusive for us to go in there and start to determine what activities are appropriate and what are inappropriate."

The Liberals have been aggressive in banning smoking in cars with children, or pretty much any public place where it would impact the health of others, McGuinty added.

Some apartment dwellers complain they suffer second-hand smoke from neighbouring units, but McGuinty said that's a line he's not comfortable crossing.

"There's still something important about the principle that a person's home is her castle."

At an unrelated event yesterday, the government announced that participating family health teams will provide smokers with nicotine patches and gum, as well as addictions counselling, for free starting in the spring.

Such services are already available in many community health centres, hospitals and pharmacies.

Look forward to the retirement you want by planning ahead now.

By Victor Dodig
Executive Vice-President
CIBC

Not everyone shares the same idea of the perfect retirement, but all Canadians can work towards realizing their individual goals – enjoying more free time, less pressure, maybe even that favourite hobby – with smart planning and professional advice. So what can you do today to plan for the retirement you want tomorrow?

Starting a retirement plan can be as simple as talking to an advisor. Planning your future takes a lot less time than you might think. An advisor can help take the pressure out of planning and make sense of the numerous savings and investment options available to you.

To build a retirement plan, you need to have a clear idea of your goals. Then, an advisor can help you assess where you now stand financially, calculate how much money you will need to support your chosen retirement lifestyle and determine what sources that income will come from, which could include: a pension, Registered Retirement Savings Plan (RRSP), Tax-Free Savings Account (TFSA), or non-registered investments. An advisor can also discuss other important considerations such as inflation and healthcare costs.

Everyone has a different time schedule for retirement and an advisor can help you determine your appropriate investment mix including savings accounts, GICs, mutual funds, managed portfolios or brokerage solutions. Since your plan is a long-term one, it's essential that you consider the long-term return potential and level of risk of any investment before adding it to your retirement portfolio.

One of the easiest ways to make saving for retirement a priority is to set up a regular investment plan.

As smaller contributions are often easier to make on an ongoing basis, a regular investment plan starts to work for you right away by moving you closer towards your goals with each contribution while compounding interest, dividends or investment growth.

Most importantly, if you haven't already, start planning today. Get help from an advisor to prepare a retirement plan, put it into action and review it regularly to ensure you stay on track. The more time your investments have to grow, the greater your returns will be. Successful retirement planning means being realistic about what you need to do today to reach those goals tomorrow.

SWITCH and discover you don't need an investment portfolio to get PERSONALIZED retirement advice.

At CIBC, we believe that financial advice for today's needs or retirement goals should be available and accessible to everyone. And that making investment decisions doesn't have to be difficult or take a lot of time. A CIBC advisor will work with you to provide personalized retirement advice and help you select the right investment solutions to meet your goals.

It's worth a talk.

Joe Fresh coming to town

Clothing retailer Joe Fresh says it's planning to open 20 standalone stores in Canada, including its first mall-based locations.

The brand, which is currently sold through Loblaw's superstores, said it will open four of these stores this year, including three in the Greater Toronto Area.

The first mall-based store will open in late March in Heartland Town Centre in Mississauga.

It will be followed by one in Bramalea City Centre in mid-April, one in Vaughan Mills in late May, along with one in CrossIron Mills, in Rocky View, just north of Calgary, in early May.

The company also announced it will open two new "studio stores" in Toronto later this year.

Student files lawsuit over alleged sex assault

A former Toronto high school student has launched a $4.25-million lawsuit against two classmates, alleging harassment and assault, and a vice-principal, who she claims ignored her pleas for help.

A classmate charged with sexual assault was acquitted in criminal court.

This suit says the girl has suffered depression and has attempted suicide over the alleged rape. It says that both she and her parents approached the vice-principal at Sir Wilfrid Laurier Collegiate in Scarborough, but he "did not escalate this issue to their superiors and disregarded the plaintiff's pleas for assistance."

The allegations in the suit have yet to be proven in court.

Bollywood star excited about T.O.

City will be first in North America to host Indian Film Academy Awards

Actor Anil Kapoor says he's not worried that the absence of a major Bollywood star will dampen enthusiasm for this year's International Indian Film Academy Awards, which will be held in Toronto in June.

Bollywood legend and fan favourite Amitabh Bachchan was the longtime brand ambassador for the IIFA, but did not appear at the 2010 show in Sri Lanka.

Bachchan tweeted this week that "IIFA says my services are not required" and that "it's the organizers of IIFA that do not want me in Toronto, Sri Lanka was the same."

Kapoor said he's excited the award show and a weekend full of festivities are taking place in Toronto this summer, since it's where his North American breakout film, Slumdog Millionaire, took off critically during the 2008 Toronto International Film Festival.

"Toronto is almost like coming home. Every time we've come to do shows here, film movies here, the reception has always been very warm."
PREITY ZINTA, ACTOR

Slumdog won the festival's audience choice award and went on to win the best picture trophy at the Academy Awards.

"This is where the film really actually was born and got the (buzz-building) recognition; in Toronto it started building," he said.

The three-day event is set to be held June 23-25 and is expected to draw 40,000 visitors to Toronto, including Bollywood industry insiders eyeing the city as a possible shooting location.

The awards show has also drawn global television audiences of 600 million in the past, organizers said.

The awards have previously been held in the likes of London, Malaysia, Dubai, Amsterdam, Singapore, Bangkok, Macau and Johannesburg.

Angry father rips Ottawa, Mexico over rape probe

- Alleged victim: 'There's been a lot ... of coverup'
- Expert warns tourists: Do your homework abroad

The father of a Canadian woman allegedly raped by two Mexican police officers while on holiday says he has no faith in the investigation.

Barry Rutland said yesterday Mexican authorities have already denied any wrongdoing in their treatment of his 41-year-old daughter, Rebecca Rutland.

What's more, he said, Ottawa is "known for not being able to take care of Canadians abroad."

Rebecca Rutland added: "There's been a lot ... of coverup."

But an expert on tourism to Mexico says Canadians "can't leave it to the government" to keep them safe in foreign lands.

"Travellers have to do their own homework" before heading to countries with records of violence or corruption, said Gabor Forgacs, assistant professor at the Ted Rogers School of Tourism and Hospitality Management in Toronto.

Rebecca Rutland, a social worker based in Thunder Bay, says she was raped by two police officers at a police station in Playa del Carmen.

Rutland says she and her fiancé, Richard Coleman, 51, were arrested after a confrontation between Coleman and some officers.

Foreign Affairs Minister Lawrence Cannon says Ottawa is pushing for a formal inquiry.

RRSPs fall off young Canadians' radar

Many young Canadians are shunning RRSPs, says the Royal Bank.

It says the number of young Canadians who have a registered retirement saving plan has dropped to 39 per cent — the lowest level in almost a decade.

The bank found most people aged 18 to 34 are focusing on reducing debt, saving, or buying a home.

"We're seeing other financial priorities become increasingly top of mind for younger Canadians," said bank official Lee Anne Davies.

RBC said the overall number of Canadian adults who have RRSPs jumped to 61 per cent last year, up from 54 per cent in 2009.

REPORT ABUSE — OR NOT?

VATICAN DEFENDS 'SMOKING GUN' LETTER

The Vatican launched a new round of damage control yesterday over priestly sex abuse.

It insisted a newly-revealed 1997 letter warning Irish bishops against reporting abuse to police had been "deeply misunderstood."

The letter has undermined persistent Vatican claims that it never told bishops not to co-operate with police.

But victims' groups say it's a "smoking gun" that shows the church enforced a culture of concealing crimes by pedophile priests of which Rome bears ultimate responsibility.

The Vatican, however, says it wanted to emphasize that Irish bishops must follow church law.

The letter by no means instructed bishops to disregard civil reporting requirements, said the Vatican's U.S. lawyer, Jeffrey Lena.

Human smuggling growing problem, says minister

Minister of Public Safety Vic Toews made claim as he sought support for new federal bill He was unable to back up assertion with actual statistics

DARRYL DYCK/THE CANADIAN PRESS

Vic Toews speaks during a news conference regarding the government's bill, Preventing Human Smugglers From Abusing Canada's Immigration System, yesterday in Vancouver.

Canada's public safety minister says illegal migrants have hardened Canadians' attitude towards refugees entering the country.

Vic Toews told reporters in Vancouver he is concerned that illegal migrants are undermining the usual welcome Canadians give to legitimate refugees.

The minister believes that can only change if the opposition supports his government's human smuggling bill in Parliament.

Toews was curt when challenged over his claim that many of the migrants in the latest ship to come to Canada were connected to the terrorist group Tamil Tigers.

He quipped to a reporter that if he could provide him with who is and who isn't a member of the terrorist group he would consider that list.

Toews said human smuggling is a growing problem, but he couldn't give figures — and neither could the official he referred reporters to in order to get those figures.

It's official: We're couch potatoes

Only 15 per cent of us are getting enough exercise, StatsCan says

Shape up. Canada!

A Statistics Canada report that says only a fraction of Canadians are getting enough exercise has health advocates warning of a physical inactivity crisis.

"It is urgent that all Canadians take action," said ParticipAction president Kelly Murumets.

StatsCan said a mere 15 per cent of Canadians are getting their recommended weekly workout.

The report said the numbers are even more dismal for young people — only seven per cent of kids aged five to 17 are meeting the daily minimum.

"Parents, the private sector, government, schools and the community at large are all partners in this complex task," Murumets said.

"Bottom line is that we need to inspire and support our children by being good role models and leading active, healthy lifestyles."

Terror suspect arrested in Edmonton

RCMP arrested a Canadian citizen in Edmonton who is suspected of supporting a terrorist group that killed five American soldiers in Iraq. Spokeswoman Doris Stapleton said Mounties arrested Sayfildin Tahir Sharif without incident yesterday at the request of the FBI.

Sharif is charged in the U.S. with supporting a multinational terrorist network that took part in the suicide bombing that killed the soldiers near a forward operating base in Mosul, Iraq. The U.S. Department of Justice said Sharif was charged based on evidence gathered in Canadian court-authorized wiretaps and search warrants.

No complaints yet over song, watchdog says

Regulator ruled last week Money for Nothing unfit for radio Stations running marathons of 1985 song since

A Canadian broadcast watchdog says it has received no complaints from listeners after radio stations intentionally defied a ruling against Money for Nothing by airing marathons of the Dire Straits tune last week.

The Canadian Broadcast Standards Council ruled the 1985 hit single unfit for radio because its lyrics include an anti-gay slur.

The decision sparked an impassioned outcry and classic-rock radio stations in Halifax and Edmonton struck back by playing the unedited version of the song over and over again.

J.C. Douglas, the program director at Q104 in Halifax, said earlier this week that a few listeners pledged to file complaints in response to the stunt, while others claimed they had already done so.

▶ Mark Knopfler of Dire Straits

But Canadian Broadcast Standards Council national chairman Ron Cohen said yesterday afternoon that no such grievances had been filed.

The council won't take action against any stations airing the unedited version of the song unless another listener complains.

"Actually, I was surprised, but there aren't any complaints received yet," he said in a telephone interview. THE CANADIAN PRESS

U.S. House votes to repeal health care

The vote was slated for last week but it was put off after the attack on Arizona Rep. Gabrielle Giffords

Republicans in the U.S. House of Representatives fulfilled a campaign promise, casting a largely symbolic vote to repeal U.S. President Barack Obama's health care overhaul. The measure was sure to die in the Democratic-controlled Senate and faced a certain veto if it should reach the president's desk.

Nevertheless, yesterday, the vote in the House, newly under Republican control, signalled the beginning of the party's effort to dismantle the law by starving it of money as portions of the legislation go into effect in the coming years.

That effort was expected to begin as early as today as Republicans roll up their sleeves for the task of trying to build health care into an issue for their bid to oust Obama from the White House in the 2012 presidential election.

In advance of the vote, Obama had said he was willing to work with Democrats and Republicans to improve the law but warned that legislators should not "go backward" and repeal the measure, which afforded Americans the freedom and security of knowing insurance companies cannot deny, cap or drop coverage. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

ALEX BRANDON/THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

▶ House Majority Leader Eric Cantor discusses the vote to repeal the health care bill at a news conference on Capitol Hill yesterday.

The bill

Obama signed the health care overhaul into law in March after a bitter and ugly partisan battle.

- The measure extends health care coverage to 32 million Americans who now lack it and puts controls on insurance companies that were denying coverage to those with pre-existing ailments or removing protections from those who became ill.
- Obama had won a legislative victory that had eluded U.S. presidents stretching back almost half a century.
- Republicans contend it's an intrusion into Americans' private affairs, amounts to a government takeover of health care and is too costly.

growing ... slowly

Canada's growth limited to 2.4 per cent this year 2.8 next year

Canada's economy has started paying a steep price for the relative strength of the dollar and the poor productivity of businesses, the Bank of Canada warns in its latest global and domestic economic outlook.

Thanks to new monetary and government stimulus, the U.S. economy will expand by an impressive 3.3 per cent this year — a full point stronger than previously thought — and 3.2 per cent next year, the bank says, but Canadian firms are in a poor position to take full advantage of that growth.

The bank has also upgraded global growth by about half a point to four per cent this year, led by China. But with the Canadian loonie trading at par with the U.S., and low productivity, there is only so much of that increased demand Canadian exporters can hope to fill, it warns.

A Tunisian prosecutor opened an investigation yesterday into the overseas assets of the ousted president and his deeply resented family, as the UN's human rights chief said more than 100 people have died during five weeks of unrest. The prosecutor's move came as hundreds of protesters led a peaceful — if noisy — rally in central Tunis, demanding that former allies of deposed President Zine El Abidine Ben Ali stop clinging to power.

Baby Doc to stay in Haiti

25 Deposed dictator Jean-Claude (Baby Doc) Duvalier returned to Haiti Sunday after being exiled for nearly 25 years.

A lawyer for Jean-Claude (Baby Doc) Duvalier says the former Haitian dictator who faces accusations of corruption and embezzlement plans to stay in Haiti.

Reynold Georges told reporters yesterday that Duvalier has the right to remain in his Caribbean homeland.

Georges said Duvalier "is free to do whatever he wants, go wherever he wants."

Duvalier is facing accusations of corruption and embezzlement for allegedly pilfering the treasury before his 1986 ouster. He returned to Haiti Sunday after being exiled for nearly 25 years.

Duvalier's case is now in the hands of a judge of instruction, who will decide whether there is enough evidence to go to trial.

That process can take up to three months.

Wind calls for better consumer protection

◐ Chairman notes penalty to end contracts double that in U.S. ◐ Says only Quebec limits cancellation fees

Wireless company Wind Mobile wants the federal and provincial governments to provide better consumer protection for cellphone users, including reducing early contract termination fees.

Wind Mobile said it has filed a submission to the Manitoba government's public consultation paper on improving consumer protection for cellphone and wireless contracts in that province.

Wind said it applauds Manitoba as well as Quebec for taking leadership on consumer protection in the wireless market.

Wind Mobile chairman Anthony Lacavera noted yesterday that a private member's bill was recently introduced in the Ontario legislature to end "unfair" wireless practices.

New wireless carrier Mobilicity has also asked federal Industry Minister Tony Clement to support legislation that would protect consumers from automatic contract renewals and from high penalties for early contract terminations.

TSX plunges as copper loses its intraday shine

Rumours of China inflation dip, growth rebound sent copper to record high ◗ Leaked data seen as unusual

The Toronto stock market closed sharply lower yesterday as copper prices retreated from record levels while investors considered a mixed bag of U.S. earnings reports.

The Canadian dollar also lost early momentum against the American currency as oil and copper prices declined after new data showed a surprising decline in the manufacturing sector late last year.

Statistics Canada reported manufacturing sales declined 0.8 per cent in November to $44.9 billion, led by decreases in the motor vehicle and motor vehicle parts industries. Economists had expected an increase of 0.5 per cent.

Market moment

PRICES AS OF 5 P.M. YESTERDAY

TSX	Dollar
– 120.16 (13,439.04)	– 0.27¢ (100.45¢ US)

Oil	Natural gas 1,000 cu ft	Gold contracts
– 52¢ US ($90.86 US)	$4.561 (+ 13.6¢)	$1,370.20 (+ $2.00)

"This comes on the heels of a very strong October number, which was up 0.7 per cent (and) it's not unusual to see these things bounce up and down month to month," said Robert Gorman, chief portfolio strategist at TD Waterhouse, adding that recent data bodes well for December.

"You had plus 66,000 jobs created (in manufacturing in December) so I would think the two aren't necessarily tied at the hip, but if you have that much hiring in manufacturing, it's likely that signals an increase in December," Gorman added.

FOREVER INDEBTED TO MOB MENTALITY

He says ...

JOHN MAZEROLLE

I once felt helpless about my enormous debt payments, but I've analyzed the situation and realize now what the root of the problem is: You. J'accuse, gentle reader.

Wipe that innocent look off your face. Just four years ago I was only $4,000 in debt. I was panicked about it at the time, but now that sounds like a nice game show prize — something Pat Sajak might reveal after the final puzzle. "You've won $4,000 in debt!" he'd say, and I'd hug Vanna.

Now I'm $50,000 in debt. And it's all your fault.

Because let's face it: You made it OK. The average Canadian owes more than they earn in a year, which is three-syllable c-raaa-zy, but everybody acts like it's business as usual. If I'm chatting with you and mention that I'm $50,000 in debt your typical response is to make a high-pitched "hmph" noise — the kind of noise that says, "Not good, but not bad."

Canadians' finances are crashing like the Hindenburg, but instead of "Oh, the humanity!" the reporter says, "Could be worse! Back to you, Tom."

Thanks for nothing, reader. Thanks for $50,000 less than nothing.

We live in a society where it's seen as some sort of victory to get back to breaking even, as if keeping your nostrils barely above the waterline proves you're a seasoned swimmer. Heck, a friend of mine once bought a $1,500 suit to celebrate getting out of debt, which is sort of like lighting a cigar to celebrate a successful lung transplant.

"Nobody actually owns anything; it's all credit. We should change the verb to, 'I owe a house, and I owe a car.' "

Nobody actually owns anything; it's all credit. We should change the verb to, "I owe a house, and I owe a car."

We've been conditioned by each other to believe that debt is fine. See how I'm blameless? With the Can-Con company I keep, can I really be held accountable for my lack of financial savvy? I'm a victim of mob mentality.

No doubt you feel bad about your role in all this. You made me, which must have a Dr. Frankenstein feel about it.

So if you'd like to alleviate the guilt, I will be accepting pledges and donations. I'll even take your gold, no questions asked. You're welcome.

I'm a man of honour, so if you lend me some money to just get me through this rough patch, I solemnly swear: I'll be forever in your debt.

at Bloor Viaduct

The Bloor Viaduct, that span of truss arch bridge that runs from Bloor East to the Danforth, has sadly gathered more notice for its tortured history than its architecture. Before the city installed Luminous Veil, a $6-million fence around the bridge's perimeter, the Bloor Viaduct had become the unofficial juncture point for hundreds of suicides. In fact, it was the second highest suicide magnet after San Francisco's Golden Gate Bridge. It's an unfortunate association for a roadway that otherwise provides beautiful vistas of the north-south Don Valley. Since its construction, the fence has helped stave off suicide attempts and created dialogue around this important issue.

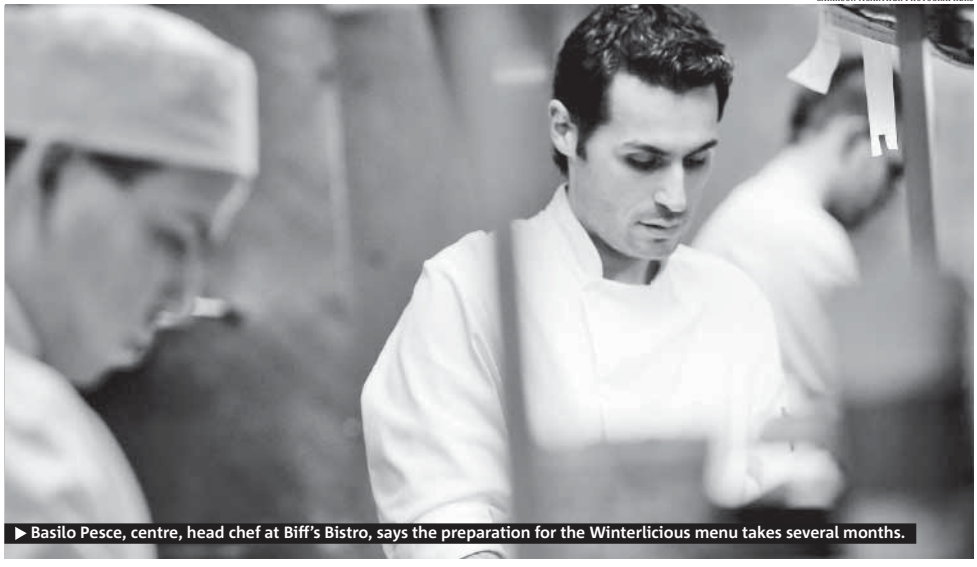
Winterlicious brings the heat

Local chef gives patrons a taste of everything with his Winterlicious menu selections ◗ Changing tastes can leave chefs with leftovers

GARRISON MCARTHUR PHOTOGRAPHERS



▶ Basilo Pesce, centre, head chef at Biff's Bistro, says the preparation for the Winterlicious menu takes several months.

BACKSTAGE PASS

IAN GORMLEY
METRO TORONTO

After nine years, Winterlicious, the city's annual prix-fixe fine-dining event, has become a permanent fixture on foodie calendars. For customers, the most arduous task is choosing a restaurant and tracking down reservations. For the participating restaurants though, planning starts long before the first snowflakes hit the ground.

Basilio Pesce, head chef at Biff's Bistro and a Winterlicious veteran, says that prep for this year's menu started back in the fall. Menus have to be submitted to the city's marketing department in November, which means that Pesce needs to have his menu in to his company's marketing department a couple of weeks before that. "I think I wrote this out in October," he said.

Pesce generally chooses dishes that best typify his restaurant, giving customers a taste of the full menu. "You know what works and what doesn't," he explains. "You try and give people a little bit of everything and cover all your bases: a meat, a fish, something that flies, be it a duck or chicken. And the one wonky thing for people that are more adventurous."

Winterlicious

The annual event runs Jan. 28 to Feb. 10. Reservations are now being accepted. Visit toronto.com/winterlicious for details.

Suppliers, which for Biff's include small local farmers, are apprised of the menu shortly after Christmas to accommodate the increased volume. "With our small pig farmer in London, we go from one or two pig bellies a week to 25 or 30," he said.

By next Monday, Pesce and his cooks will start prepping things like pork rinds to garnish the pork belly. "At best, it's a two day process," he says. "Can I start this a day early? What if it burns? You have to give yourself a day or two grace."

But even the best-laid plans don't always work out and adjustments need to be made to accommodate customer tastes.

"Poor guy made 400 fish cakes and we sold 10 orders," jokes Pesce. "Looks like we're gonna be eating fish cakes for staff meals."

A gourmet restaurant meal done at home

The more do-it-yourself minded foodies might prefer to skip the crowds and dine at home.

To help, the Calphalon Culinary Center in downtown Toronto is offering a Winterlicious demonstration class to help plan and execute a gourmet three-course meal. The key is to "prepare ahead," explains Gerard Capellan, manager at the center.

"Get the prep done if it can be done the day before," Capellan said.

He also recommends trying out a recipe three times before serving it to guests, to make sure you're comfortable with it. But, he says, the most important to remember is "as long as you don't kill anybody, it's just food."

For more information go to calphalon.com/centers.

Wells' film filled with good company

Despite cast, almost wasn't made

PHIL BROWN
SCENE@METRONEWS.CA

This week John Wells makes his feature film-making debut with The Company Men, a passionate, tragic — and ultimately uplifting — story about the painful unemployed limbo that has sadly befallen so many during the current recession.

Surprisingly, the writing veteran of TV series like E.R. and The West Wing, started work on the film a decade ago, even though it now hits a little closer to home.

"I started writing the screenplay during the dot com bust after my sister's husband and about 5,000 other people suddenly lost their jobs on a Tuesday," Wells said.

"I went online and asked if anyone had any stories or anecdotes to share as research for my screenplay and got a couple thousand responses within a weekend. But by the time I turned the screenplay into the studio that recession was over and they said, 'Nobody is going to want to see a movie about that.'"

Wells' film follows a variety of characters at all levels of the economic spectrum, from CEOs making cost-cutting decisions, to engineers who find themselves working construction. The timely script attracted an impressive cast. including Ben Affleck, Tommy Lee Jones, and Chris Cooper, but despite the considerable talent involved, Wells made his movie independently.

"Seven to 10 years ago, I think somebody would have made this film in the studio system, but these kinds of films are being made very rarely in Hollywood today," he said. "The studios want to ensure that they can do foreign business and that leads them to easily translatable projects like action movies, animation, and science fiction. I certainly go to see those movies, but there needs to be a place for films like The Company Men."

Weir all about good storytelling

PHIL BROWN
SCENE@METRONEWS.CA

Peter Weir is one of the most acclaimed filmmakers working today. Yet aside from dedicated cinephiles, his name might not garner much recognition because he isn't a director with an instantly identifiable style.

Instead, Weir changes his approach with every film to suit the story, leading to a career of wonderfully diverse projects like Witness and The Truman Show.

"There are stylists like David Lynch with a great tradition through the history film and in a sense their films are about themselves," Weir told Metro. "Whereas I fall more in line the other great strand of directors who are storytellers."

True to form, Weir's latest film The Way Back is unlike anything he's done before, a harrowing journey of prisoners of war escaping the horrors of a Gulag labour camp only to find themselves having to traverse a frost-bitten Siberian forest and the heat-stroke inducing Gobi desert to find freedom.

When asked what drew him to the material Weir explained, "It was a period of history that I didn't know much about. We know a lot about the German atrocities (the Second World War), but I hadn't read much about the Soviets."

ET Canada's new correspondent excited to be in L.A.

Last night, Entertainment Tonight Canada announced Matte Babel is joining its team as the show's Los Angeles correspondent — where he'll be all over the red carpets and movie premieres. Metro recently spoke to the former MuchMusic VJ about his new job and living in L.A.

Tell us what your perfect L.A. moment would be?

My perfect L.A. moment would be sitting court side with Ellen DeGeneres as Kobe hits the game winning shot in Game 7 of the NBA championship versus the Miami Heat … or does it have to be realistic?!

L.A. is the land of celebrities. Is there a person you most want to meet, and why?

Dead or alive? It would have to be Jim Morrison. Love the Doors.

ET has been around for three decades; and for five seasons in Canada. Which correspondent has been your favourite and why?

That's like choosing a favourite sibling … everyone at ET Canada is unique — it's like The Addams Family – it just works!

What will you miss most about living in Canada?

The snow! … Truthfully, my friends. My experiences in L.A. thus far have been amazing, but telling someone rather than experiencing it with them is never the same. METRO

Canada's best is an Arab tale

ADAM NAYMAN
SCENE@METRONEWS.CA

▶ Denis Villeneuve

Accepting his second straight citation from the Toronto Film Critics Association for Best Canadian Feature, Denis Villeneuve made reference to the previous year's acceptance speech.

In 2010, he was tapped for his controversial drama Polytechnique and joked that the cash prize — sponsored by Rogers — would allow him to pay his phone bill. This year, he pointed out that shooting a film in a foreign country meant that he'd run up a substantial bill on his cellphone. That film was Incendies, adapted from a play by Montreal's Wajdi Mouaward.

The story involves a pair of Canadian twins who journey back to their mother's home in an unnamed Middle Eastern country to unravel a dark family mystery.

Villeneuve says that his goal in bringing Mouawad's thematically complex play to the screen was to "go from ideas to images. He gave me total freedom to adapt the work; freedom to make mistakes."

He says that he presented Mouawad early in the process with a number of scenes — including a tense, frightening sequence of orphaned Arab boys having their heads shaved. That scene opens the film, scored to the song You and Whose Army by Radiohead.

"I needed a song that had an operatic quality, something melancholic and hypnotic," Villeneuve explains.

All the King's cuffs

Meet the English jewelry designer who has women from New York to Dubai scrambling to snag his glamorously cheeky bracelets, rings and necklaces

KENYA HUNT GLOBAL FASHION DIRECTOR

▶ Nicholas King takes resin to another level.

"Anything that has a bit of sparkle to it works really well for me," says designer Nicholas King from his home in London. He's talking about his increasingly popular handmade jewelry collection (Cheryl Cole is just one of his high-profile fans), which includes an especially hot-selling series of resin and diamanté cuffs.

A major part of the appeal is that his pieces are Elizabeth Taylor glamorous in a Lady Gaga edgy kind of way. His work manages to be cheeky and cool. "I started out by taking a piece of tartan fabric and setting it in resin," says King, who worked in fashion for 17 years at houses including John Galliano and Donna Karan before starting his own line. "But if you're going to do a plastic cuff, it has to be special," he adds with a wry sense of humour. So he moved on to metals and crystals.

"If you're going to do a plastic cuff, it has to be special."

"I like how it adds a richness to the jewelry," he says. Nicholas isn't the only one. In the short two years and six months since he started his business, his collection has been picked up by some of the world's most important fashion emporiums including Harrods, L'Eclaireur, 10 Corso Como and Liberty of London, among others. Not to mention he's become a favourite among magazine editors.

That's an impressive accomplishment considering that King started his business the day that Lehman Brothers crashed, sending the global economy — and the fashion business in general — into a downward spiral. Despite his early successes, don't expect King to go the way of other young designers by launching a chain of premature brand extensions anytime soon. "I want my jewelry to be relevant for a long time so I'm just going to focus on growing slowly and organically."

King's ladies

Nicholas King is a modest gentleman and therefore wouldn't shamelessly name-drop the celebrities who love his work. "I'd love to dress Michelle Obama and Kate Middleton, though," he admits. We did, however, manage to get him to name two famous women who encapsulate his style.

Monktastic

Once the footwear of pious men, these monk shoes have become the shoe of choice for many trendy types

You'd never think it, but you owe it to the monks for bringing us the finer things in life – from champagne to these polished slip-ons. Today's monk shoes are a play on both the 15th century original and the 1920s redesign, with a classic low-cut and sharp side buckles. Less formal than the Oxford shoe, this style is an urban alternative to both the brogue and the boot. Wear them with cuffed trousers (note: Josh Peskowitz opposite as a how-to reference) or slim cut jeans for a groomed and considered look.

▶ A look from Dsquared2 men's Fall-Winter 2011/2012 collection

Canadian duo brave cold with collection

Canadian designer twins Dean and Dan Caten of Dsquared raised the curtain on their winter menswear show Tuesday to reveal a snow-laden hut immersed in the mountains. One by one, models emerged from the stage set wearing crumpled suits, rumpled shirts and beat-up boots in a collection based on the rough and ready life of early American settlers.

The collection of reassembled work wear was built around the apron, which in fashion terms becomes a vest. Heavy leather belts, suspenders and pioneer hats accessorized the look. Jeans, low slung and in wool denim, are a winter must.

Black, like the coal from a mine, is the preferred shade.

As in many of the shows during the fall-winter 2011-2012 menswear preview showings, which ended Tuesday, outerwear plays an important role in the collection. Shearling jackets and fur-trimmed coats offer a fashionable way to keep today's gold digger warm.

How to get hitched in 30 days

Use these simple tricks from Rich Bride Poor Bride wedding planner Karina Lemke to help pull it off

KARINA LEMKE
FOR METRO TORONTO

I've been a wedding planner for more than a decade. I typically work with a couple from one to two years, helping them plan every aspect of their special day. For the newly engaged, or those who may not be familiar with the process, the average length of a North American engagement is 18 months.

Recently, my fiancée and I planned our wedding. The catch? We had exactly 30 days to do it. By the end of it, I found that a beautiful and magical experience need not take a year and a half to plan.

So, if you just want to get married and don't want the stress and wedding fatigue that a long planning process includes, here are some lessons I learned to help make that process easier.

WHO

Make a list of the absolutely essential people in your life — typically parents, siblings and one to four best friends. Leave off distant school friends, work friends and friends of your parents. This is "wedding triage."

Call each of them, tell them they are important and get them to commit to a date. When you have that magical date, consider it set in stone and start your planning.

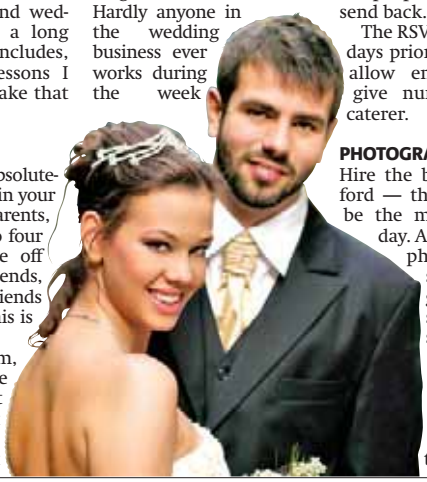
You will have a far better time with the 40 to 60 people who you adore than with the additional 100 people you are likely not as friendly with but feel obligated to invite.

WHERE

If your guest list is less than 100, you will have limitless options. Don't think about banquet halls; think about gorgeous little restaurants, small inns, art galleries or a garden. Look for a place that is beautiful as this will cost you less in décor down the road.

WHEN

Forget a weekend date. Hardly anyone in the wedding business ever works during the week and, as a result, you can get an amazing location, an award-winning photographer, a celebrity chef for the cake and a terrific band. They may even offer discounted pricing.



INVITATIONS

Avoid fancier styles with embellishments or the time-consuming process of letterpress. If pushed for time, have an email invitation designed and sent as people can RSVP quickly. The best part is it's free.

The Internet can also be great for short-run invitations if you need to have something in your hands and into the mailbox within 10 days. You need to allow an additional 10 days for people to receive and send back.

The RSVP date can be 10 days prior to the event to allow enough time to give numbers to your caterer.

PHOTOGRAPHER

Hire the best you can afford — these images will be the memory of your day. Ask the photographer if they will set up an online gallery of their shots or slideshow.

Since some friends may not be able to attend, they can at least have access to these images following the event. If you can afford video, do.

OFFICIANT

You're not limited to a city hall wedding. A simple Internet search will yield many non-denominational or interfaith officiants who can conduct a wedding ceremony at your choice of location. Price typically runs from $200 to $600.

CAKE

Any local bakery can make a wedding cake. Find some images of cakes you like. Opt for simple. They will typically be less expensive than using a fashionable wedding cake artist. Resist the urge to make your own — they often wilt or fall and are just plain stressful.

MUSIC

Even for a small wedding, hire live music for the ceremony. The cost is low, between $250 to $650. Consider hiring them to play through cocktails or dinner if you want music through the evening, but not necessarily a major dance party. If you want dancing, use your iPod.

FLOWERS & DÉCOR

You can make more of an impact and alter the appearance of any space with colourful, luxury linen rentals than you ever could with flowers.

Consider renting linens ($15 to $35 per table) and going with simple, in-season flowers (don't get fancy with the flowers). Remember that you can never have too many candles — they are easy decor and a fabulous DIY project that can be handled on short notice.

ISTOCK

▶ You can still have a magical wedding without the year-long planning process.

That dress

Limit your search to one or two shops and not more than a dozen dresses. Work with the sales associate to isolate and try only dresses that are in stock (samples are perfect for this) or can be obtained and altered within a one- to two-week time frame.

The editors at Weddingbells round up the hottest reception, fashion and stationary trends for your wedding — from pretty plumage to pastel wedding gowns to paperless invites

Trend: Feathers
Why it's hot: Oscar favourite Black Swan has created a buzz for pretty plumage. Feathers (or feathery motifs) can fit into all aspects of your wedding day, from your dress to your accessories, bouquets and cake.

PHOTOGRAPHY: CARLO MENDOZA

ALISON MCGILL, EDITOR-IN-CHIEF

Trend: Creative backdrops
Why it's hot: The whole crafty/DIY look is now trending. Favours, stationery and centrepieces are key, but romantic backdrops in the form of paper flowers and fabric can transform any venue.

Trend: Photo booth props
Why it's Hot: Last year the revival of the old-school photo booth at wedding receptions was huge. This year, we anticipate it to be even bigger. Expect to see a surge in personalized booths filled with custom decor tailored toward the couple's personality.
ROSESANNE DELA ROSA, ASSOCIATE EDITOR

Trend: Local cuisine
Why it's hot: Serving food found close to home is not only trendy, but environmentally and budget-friendly, too. Plus it can be a great way to play up your destination. Having your reception in Niagara-on-the-Lake? Serve local wine or have an ice cream bar made by the nearby creamery.
STEPHANIE GRAY, ONLINE EDITOR

Trend: Sapphires
Why it's hot: Kate Middleton's spectacular blue sapphire engagement ring ignited a passion for this vibrant gemstone.

NICOLE KEEN, ASSOCIATE EDITOR

Trend: Chic bridesmaid attire
Why it's hot: Designers now understand you want to choose a dress your girls will love wearing — just look at the fashionable creations from Melissa Sweet, Wtoo and Lela Rose.
STEPHANIE GRAY, ONLINE EDITOR

Trend: Honeysuckle-tinted lips
Why it's hot: The Pantone Colour of the Year for 2011 is a perfect choice as your wedding-day shade, but we particularly love it as a lip colour selection. Our lippy pick: Bobbi Brown Creamy Lip Color in Honeysuckle ($25).
ALISON MCGILL, EDITOR-IN-CHIEF

Trend: Pastel bridal gowns
Why it's hot: Soft peach, blush pink and baby blue are all fresh and elegant alternatives to traditional white and ivory.

TORONTO THE GREAT

Upon winning the Golden Globe award for best actor in a musical or comedy, Paul Giamatti, the star of the movie Barney's Version, gave the mother of all shout-outs to the City of Montreal and to Canada overall.

"An incredible place in a great nation, Canada," he said.

I feel the same way about Toronto, particularly after attending the International Builders' Show in Orlando, Fla., last week, where local builders cleaned-up at the annual home building awards show known as The Nationals.

Toronto builders scooped a grand total of 15 awards for marketing, design or overall project excellence.

That's nearly a third of all the awards up for grabs in a competition that drew submissions from every major market in the U.S., and from as far afield as Chengdu, China.

The big winner of the evening was Edenshaw Homes for the condo project Chaz on Charles, which scored the award for International Community of the Year, plus three marketing-related awards.

Not far behind was Lifetime Developments and INK Entertainment who garnered three awards for the condo project Bisha.

Local advertising agency Montana Steele had a hand in 11 of the winning projects while LA. Inc. earned three credits.

Classic good looks

SUITE TALK

RAFAEL BRUSILOW
HOME@METRONEWS.CA

With a traditional look that celebrates the fabulous over the faddish, the penthouse suite at Aura proves that good taste never goes out of style.

Given the impressive stature of the 11,370 square-foot penthouse model it would have been easy to go overboard with outlandish design, but Rene D'Lesing, designer and principal at GCB Inside, took a more restrained approach that focused on classic good looks and elegant subtlety over a more flash-in-the-pan, vogue design.

"We were trying to cater to very discriminating buyers, the type of potential purchaser who tends to prefer more classic, traditional designs. We like to think that type of buyer is looking for solidity rather than trendiness," D'Lesing said.

Yet while the suite is traditional in focus, a wealth of modern elements, like brushed nickel hardware, a glass tile backsplash and frameless glass shower stalls, ensure the overall feel is still fresh and invigorating.

▶ The kitchen features classic styling.

"The design philosophy is transitional design — it's taking classic influences and mixing them with contemporary elements. We wanted the whole end result to be harmonious and I think we accomplished that," D'Lesing said.

In the kitchen, traditional cream tones in the marble and cabinetry provide classic styling, while details like the concealed fridge embrace a more modern touch. With a colour palette that is mostly monochromatic, the kitchen is meant to feel warm and elegant without feeling forced. D'Lesing also kept glazing and antiquing to a minimum to avoid veering the suite too far toward an overly-traditional look.

The expansive master bathroom features a stand-alone deep soaker tub and latticed porcelain tile flooring to create a look reminiscent of a country mansion.

"The influence was a very strong residential look, taking from what you'd see in a multi-million dollar home and placing that into a high-rise suite. The end result fulfills all the expectations you'd have from any multi-million dollar environment," D'Lesing said.

Off the floor: Staying stylish yet organized

DECOR MOMENT

KARL LOHNES
HOME@METRONEWS.CA

An organized home is the first element to creating a comfortable and stylish place to live.

I'm a believer that the first step to being organized and having a clean home is to have nothing on the floor other than the furniture meant to be there.

Clothing, newspapers, toys, gym bags and shoes should all have a place.

Here's a few ways to get your stuff up off the floor.

Clothing

Adding a second hanging bar in the closet for pants, installing an upper shelf to hold an extra row of folded sweaters and adding hooks to the inside of the closet doors will help your standard closet hold about 30 per cent more clothing and accessories.

Vacuum-sealed bags help reduce clothing's bulk and keep dust off out-of-season clothing and a canvas-portable closet is an affordable way to create an extra closet to hold the overflow.

They're also great to set up in an apartment storage locker to store out-of-season clothing.

While organizing your closet, why not spruce it up with a few decorative touches? Painting the inside of it a fashionable colour, adding updated door hardware and investing in attractive wooden hangers are simple ways to making the closet look like a million bucks.

Shoes

Building narrow shelves up the walls inside a closet is the best way to store shoes. If done smart, you can contain 40 to 50 pairs of shoes in a single closet without taking away hanging space.

A modern ladder becomes a magazine and newspaper display rack

A tall, vertical shoe rack (easily purchased from display storage suppliers and online) keep your best shoes on view and easily accessible. If you have no room in your closet for shoes, consider decorative shoe boxes lined up at the edge of a staircase or stored in under-the-bed roll out drawers.

Hanging hooks

Decorative hooks are a dime a dozen, so buy at least a dozen and put them around your home. Those items that you need every day (scarves, purses, gym bags, etc.) will stay off the floor and have a stylish place to call home.

Canvas-covered closets are portable and add valuable storage space anywhere.

Remember to hang at two heights — 42 inches and 66 inches off the floor. This will allow younger children to hang their coats and have them easily accessible. Towel bars can be a man's best friend too. Hung at the end of a kitchen island help to keep tea towels at bay while displayed vertically on the wall like ladder rungs, they become a great spot to display magazines and newspapers.

Speaking of ladders, why not use them to help get things off the floor?

ISTOCK

To create some serious space in your closet, consider adding another hanging bar, or an extra shelf.

Legal Matters

JEFFREY COWAN
HOME@METRONEWS.CA

EXPENSE TALK

My lawyer has provided me with a quote for closing my new home and I don't really understand how it is broken down and what I am paying for. I was told that it is divided between fees and disbursements. Could you explain the way this works?

This is perhaps one of the most frequent questions I am asked. The legal costs of purchasing (or for that matter selling) a home are divided into the lawyer's fee, which is the actual costs for the services that are performed and disbursements, which are the hard costs for performing the services.

For disbursements, these expenses will be almost exactly the same for every lawyer. They include costs such as couriers, faxes, postage, long distance, title search costs, registration costs of your deed and mortgage, title insurance policy, any agent costs and searching executions. Each of these are specific expenses that you must incur in order to have the transaction processed and are paid on your behalf by your lawyer.

The legal fees are another question all together. They can vary by several hundred dollars based upon the firm you retain but also the level of service they provide.

You should be wary of extremely inexpensive fees (the old adage, you get what you pay for, applies here) and likewise, overly expensive fees. Remember that you are contracting for the services of a legal professional and not a commodity. Hopefully, this person or firm will be the go-to-person for all your legal needs in the future. It's about relationship building.

The perfect dining room

Dining rooms today serve many purposes and embrace many styles

For generations, families ate in their kitchens and only ventured into their dining rooms on special occasions. The dining room was a place for guests, where stiff-backed chairs and fragile china kept everyone on their best behaviour.

But as our lives have changed, so have our dining rooms.

Today's dining rooms are used in more ways than ever before, says HGTV host Genevieve Gorder. They merge comfort and beauty to create a space where people want to linger.

Gorder and interior designers Brian Patrick Flynn of decordemon.com, and Betsy Burnham of Burnham Design in Los Angeles, share the trends they've spotted and offer tips to create a perfect — and perfectly useful — dining room.

Multi-tasking at the table

Many home-owners now

SARAH DORIO/THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

see the dining room as a flexible space where meals are not the only priority.

In many homes, the dining room table is the go-to location for working on art projects, wrapping gifts and doing homework, says Flynn. So people are seeking durable tables that can withstand plenty of attention, rather than carefully polished ones that are easily scratched.

Dining room storage has also changed. The dining room may double as a home office, with a laptop and paperwork stashed in the sideboard during meals.

Mixing instead of matching

The days of the perfectly matched suite of furniture — the "dining room set" — are over. In designer-decorated homes, you're more likely to see deliberately mismatched chairs and a table that contrasts starkly with the room's other furniture.

"Even retailers like West Elm are catching on" with this trend, Flynn says. They may offer matching chairs for the ends of the table and then a mix of seating for the sides that includes benches and chairs."

Dining without fear

We've moved away from "the severity of antiques we're afraid to touch," Gorder says, and moved toward "the rustic elegance" of the big farmhouse tables you might find in Provence or Italy.

"It feels like, 'Yes, this is a very special piece. But I can drop a plate on it and not cry and not get in trouble,'" she says.

Croquettes minus the fat

This healthier version of the crispy patties eliminates the hidden calories

The croquette is a way to use leftovers, but it's also a way to chow down hidden fat and calories. But you can concoct healthier croquettes with a little nutritional know-how.

Start with lean protein, such as chicken, turkey breasts or even crab.

For the fillers, lean toward vegetables, which add more flavour and moisture, rather than starches such as breadcrumbs or rice. Aromatics, such as onions, garlic and peppers, season while also adding a variety of colours and textures.

And if you do want to add a starch, consider using sweet potato, which is packed with fibre.

When it comes to the wet binders, opt for egg whites, which won't contain the fatty yolks and still have binding power.

Finally, though many croquettes are cooked in generous amounts of fat, with a good non-stick pan, you should be able to get satisfyingly crispy results using just cooking spray.

Preparation:

1. Relish: In a small bowl whisk together red peppers, oregano, thyme, jelly, salt and scallions. Set aside.
2. Croquettes: In a large non-stick skillet over high, heat oil. Add sweet potato, onion and red bell pepper. Saute until vegetables are tender, about 5 minutes. Transfer vegetable mixture to a large bowl. Wipe out the skillet and set aside.
3. Add chicken, lemon juice, oregano, thyme, salt and pepper, then stir to combine. Add egg whites and sour cream, then stir again.
4. Place breadcrumbs in a dish. Divide chicken mixture into 12 balls, using about 30 ml (2 heaping tbsp) per ball. Roll balls in breadcrumbs.
5. Return skillet to medium-high heat and coat with cooking spray. Add 6 of the balls, flattening them into patties with a spatula. Cook until golden-brown, 3 to 4 minutes per side.
6. Transfer croquettes to a serving platter and cover with foil. Coat skillet with additional cooking spray, then repeat with remaining balls. Serve with red pepper relish.

Who has influence over what you eat?

Celeb chefs, Michelle Obama and even Steve Jobs have made the list of the 50 most influential people in food

CAROLYN KASTER/ THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

▶ First lady Michelle Obama.

Martha Stewart and Rachael Ray you expect. But Steve Jobs on a list of the 50 most powerful people in food?

The idea was to choose people "that directly or have the ability to directly affect what and how we eat," explains Colman Andrews, editorial director of TheDailyMeal, a new site that aims to be a clearinghouse of all things food-related, from recipes to restaurant reviews.

This week, it released its list of America's culinary movers and shakers.

Stewart landed at No. 47, and Ray got No. 14. But Jobs, co-founder and CEO of Apple, beat them both at No. 5.

"The hardest part, as you might guess, wasn't even choosing the names so much as putting them in some kind of order," Andrews says.

Jobs makes the list due to technology produced by his company that has affected the food world from food apps to restaurant iPad wine lists.

There are famous chefs on the list, like Wolfgang Puck (13), Tom Colicchio (30), chef-restaurateur and host of TV's Top Chef show, and chef Thomas Keller (19) of The French Laundry in the Napa Valley and Per Se in New York.

There also are names from different parts of the food universe, such as Michelle Obama (4), who is listed for her work promoting healthy eating and fighting childhood obesity.

Who's No. 1? That would be you. "The reader. The consumer. The restaurant-goer. The home cook. The culinary professional," according to the website.

"You determine what we eat and how and sometimes why. And you're doing a great job. Keep it up."

Raptors. Defeated

Hot Spurs rally against Raps to keep streak alive

DeJuan Blair had 22 points and 11 rebounds to help the San Antonio Spurs rally from an 11-point halftime deficit to beat the Toronto Raptors 104-95 last night for their seventh straight victory.
Manu Ginobili scored 23 points and Tony Parker added 17 for the Spurs, who improved their NBA-best record to 36-6, their best ever after 42 games. DeMar DeRozan scored 28 points for the Raptors, who lost their fifth straight and ninth in the last 10 games.

Gaborik's goals power Rangers

Gustavsson pulled after allowing three goals in under three minutes, but later sent back in

The New York Rangers took the ice hoping to avoid their worst losing streak of the season.

The task was daunting enough without factoring in the struggles of top scoring threat Marian Gaborik and the latest key injury that will sideline scoring leader Brandon Dubinsky for maybe a month.

Whether it was a benching three nights earlier or the realization that his team needed him to raise his game, Gaborik heeded the call and had a night to remember.

RANGERS	LEAFS

Gaborik busted out with four goals and an assist, and the Rangers scored four times in the first period en route to a 7-0 victory over the Toronto Maple Leafs last night.

Gaborik, who has scored five goals in a game, had two goals in the first period and two more in the second as the Rangers picked on goalies Jonas Gustavsson and Jean-Sebastien Giguere. New York scored a season-high seven for the third time.

Gaborik and Brian Boyle connected for three goals in a 2:26 span in the first frame to chase Gustavsson. Giguere came on and allowed Ruslan Fedotenko's ninth.

Giguere finished the period, but resumed his seat on the bench at the start of the second. Gustavsson was touched for Gaborik's final two goals. Toronto had two fruitless power plays before the Rangers took over.

"We started well, but there was a giveaway and our defence got overwhelmed in the first period," Maple Leafs coach Ron Wilson said. "Basically, the game was over at 4-0. They made us look silly."

Gustavsson allowed six goals on 25 shots — three on 11 shots in the first period. Toronto is 0-2-1 since a four-game winning streak and has given up at least five goals three times in seven contests.

"We started OK and then we gave up the first one and they just poured it on us," Toronto forward Phil Kessel said.

"It was just not a good game for us and we've got to be better."

GM overruled by Yanks owner

In a move mirroring those of his father, Yankees owner Hal Steinbrenner overruled general manager Brian Cashman in giving a $35-million US, three-year contract to Rafael Soriano.

After a news conference to introduce Mariano Rivera's new setup man yesterday, Cashman said he didn't think it was worth paying closer money for a pitcher the team plans to use in the eighth inning.

"This is Hal Steinbrenner and his family's franchise"
BRIAN CASHMAN

Cashman didn't want to lose his first-round pick in June's amateur draft, which will now go to Tampa Bay as compensation.

"I think it's certainly a sign that at times if Hal feels that he wants to go in a different direction, that could happen," Cashman said. "I think that's certainly the case. This is their team. Does that happen often? Will it happen a lot? I just think it depends on the circumstances."

Woods will start season in San Diego

Tiger Woods officially entered the Farmers Insurance Open yesterday, which has become the traditional start of his season since 2006.

He has won the last five times he played San Diego's Torrey Pines, including the 2008 U.S. Open in a playoff over Rocco Mediate.

He has not played the PGA stop at Torrey Pines the last two years, missing the tournament in 2009 recovering from knee surgery and last year while dealing with personal problems related to his extramarital affairs. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

SUPER BOWL ADVERTISING

Adultery too much for Fox

A Toronto-based adultery website that boasts more than eight million "cheating" members has had its 2011 Super Bowl ad rejected by Fox Broadcasting.

The founder of Ashley-Madison.com, a dating site that offers "guaranteed affairs" to married people, says Fox notified him Monday it will not air the commercial, which features porn star Savanna Samson.

Noel Biderman says he's not surprised, despite the fact that he's spent millions of dollars over the last year advertising on Fox, the network that will broadcast the NFL's championship game Feb. 6.

He said the rejection means Fox does not like the business he's in.

Biderman defends the ad, however, saying it's ridiculous to think people who are happily married would watch it and decide to commit adultery.

The ad features Samson telling a business meeting that her husband is cheating on her, only to discover all of her co-workers are also having affairs.

It ends with Samson in skimpy red lingerie as one of her co-workers says, "Welcome to the club."

Super Bowl crowd could pass 100,000

▶ Cowboys Stadium

An estimated 93,000 fans will be in the stadium, with rest outside

Super Bowl attendance could surpass 100,000 for the first time in 24 years when $1.3-billion US Cowboys Stadium debuts as host Feb. 6.

Not all of those fans will have seats, or even be able to see the game in front of them. Still, the NFL says it will count "several thousand" Cowboys season ticket holders who pay $200 each to watch on TV from an outdoor plaza on the east end of the stadium in suburban Arlington.

103,985
The record for the biggest Super Bowl crowd, set in 1980 at the Rose Bowl.

NFL spokesman Brian McCarthy said yesterday the plaza plan was a first for the Super Bowl, as was the league's intention to sell 350 standing-room-only tickets, presumably for areas on staircases with good views of the field.

Today's horoscope

For today's crossword answers and for expanded horoscopes, go to metronews.ca

♈ Aries March 21-April 20 Friendships will assume even greater importance than usual over the next few days. Make sure you are on good terms with people you have to deal with on a daily basis.

♉ Taurus April 21-May 21 It's the time to make your bid for glory. Today, the Sun's transit of the midheaven angle of your chart will bring new opportunities, but it's up to you to do something with them.

♊ Gemini May 22-June 21 Being a Gemini, you will most likely rush in where angels fear to tread today, especially as the Sun's move into your fellow Air sign of Aquarius endows you with unlimited self-confidence.

♋ Cancer June 22-July 22 If you are the kind of Cancerian who rarely gives thought to the future, you need to change your ways. You're not getting any younger and you need to start building up a nest egg.

♌ Leo July 23-Aug.23 You can't do it alone. If you want to get things done over the next few weeks, you will have to rediscover the joys of partnership. Surely, you remember what that is!

♍ Virgo Aug. 24- Sept. 22 Pay close attention to details today because the smallest thing could trip you up. Also, if some of your everyday routines have become a bit of a chore now is the time to replace them with something more inspiring.

♎ Libra Sept. 23-Oct. 23 Put all thoughts of fear and failure behind you and resolve to make a success of your life. All things are possible.

♏ Scorpio Oct. 24-Nov. 22 You need to break down whatever barrier there is between you and a loved one. No matter what caused it or whose fault it might have been if you make the first move, you can get things back to how they were.

♐ Sagittarius Nov. 23-Dec. 21 This should be a fun time for you, so ignore those who say you should be worried about the state of the world. You've never believed it's as bad as some people say. Unlike them, you're not turned on by doom and gloom.

♑ Capricorn Dec. 22-Jan. 20 The Sun leaves your birth sign today, but that does not mean that your luck is about to run out. On the contrary, if you keep doing what you've been doing the past few weeks, you'll be richer than ever.

♒ Aquarius Jan. 21-Feb. 18 A new solar year begins for you, today, and you are eager to start building that new life you promised yourself. Make sure your vision is clear and your plan is simple.

♓ Pisces Feb. 19-March 20 Sometimes, you can be a bit too sensitive for your own good and that could be a problem today. Yes, others may be suffering, but it's not your fault. ● SALLY BROMPTON

On February 9th, mental health is on everyone's lips.

One in five Canadians suffers from mental illness, impacting countless lives and taking a heavy toll on the nation's economy. But mental illness carries a stigma, and many who suffer won't get the help they need because they're too afraid to talk about it.

That's why I'm proud to support Bell Let's Talk Day on February 9th. For every text message sent and every long distance call made by Bell customers that day,* Bell will donate 5¢ to mental health programs.

Join me in the national conversation. Together, we can change attitudes and make a real difference. To learn more, please visit bell.ca/letstalk.

*Regular long distance and text message charges apply.
